His Turn Now

Saturday morning a man came into the Gazette office and asked to be interviewed to put an ad in the Classified Advertising columns. In the course of his conversation he said: "I have been a constant reader of your paper for four years and I never fail to read your Classified columns. Many of the time I bought articles advertised there and have saved many a dollar through doing so. The other day I bought some at a store here but now I don't need any more. I don't want to put in this ad. I figure there are lots of others like me—fellows who read and buy from your want ads and that they will see my ad and buy them."

GRIMM DECIDES ON JAIL SENTENCES

Judge May Dictate as to Confinement and Paroles.

Judges have the power to change provisions of a jail sentence and may parole the prisoners, ruled Judge George Grimm on Saturday afternoon when he handed down an important decision in the case of Mike Boyle, charged with transporting liquor. The decision established a right for the municipal judges of Rock county to order the sheriff how paroled men shall be confined when not actually at work.

Maxfield and Clark, J. Janesville, was the first to make protests that prisoners committed to the county jail and paroled out should not be punished suddenly. Judge John Clark, however, went a step further and in the case of Mike Boyle ordered that the defendant remain in confinement nights, Sundays and holidays, instead of the being paroled out with few restrictions. Boyle was convicted and sentenced in Beloit on January 5 to 90 days at hard labor. On January 10, the sentence was changed so as to provide that the defendant should spend his nights, Sundays and holidays in actual confinement and during the remainder of the sentence he should perform such labor as the sheriff might be able to secure under the court restrictions.

Courts Dissatisfied
The case was taken to the circuit court on a writ of certiorari. It was a test case of whether the sheriff or the courts had authority to dictate how a prisoner should be paroled. The courts apparently were not fully satisfied in the manner in which the sheriff was being paroled. Since then practically all commitments to the sheriff contain the provision that the prisoners shall be kept in confinement when not actually at work and cannot be paroled out to remain on farms during their sentence.

Judge Grimm's decision states clearly that the Wisconsin law "has been enough to empower the court to change the sentence in the manner and to the effect that it did in the Boyle case." Attorney E. H. Ryan who was counsel for Boyle contended that the defendant had been sentenced, contrary to law, to jail.

"The purpose of the law is providing that imprisonment in the county jail shall be at hard labor is not to make punishment less severe; but rather the contrary. Its manifest purpose is to bring about that an offender serving a jail term should be put to work and that he should be able to find his own way out of the county jail. If the more useful of his doing work does not result from sufficient reason, authorized by the court, entitle him to full liberty, thereby abrogate his sentence or rob it of its punitive purpose. Sometimes, in the case of offenders, it is no doubt sufficient punishment to be compelled to work at all; but in many cases it is not. As the magistrate has long been required to exercise judgment to the length of the imprisonment, so he is now further required to perform and the degree of liberty to be accorded. The law may not be defeated," ruled Judge Grimm.

Upholds Judge Clark.
The decision holds that a judge is empowered to make changes and orders regarding the punishment of county jail prisoners. This is declared by the circuit court judge not to be resentence or enlarging the sentence. The action of Judge John Clark is upheld through out the decision.

YEAR OF HARDING REGIME CALLS UP DIVERGENT VIEWS

ball in the regular republican way. His embarrasments of section issues such as the agricultural bloc raised are admitted. He has not tried to interfere in the exercise by congress of the prerogative. He has refused again and again to endorse movements in congress looking toward the extravagant expenditure of money. He has made a real beginning. He has at least started the wheels of a business administration. The republicans will differ as to the amount of leadership Mr. Harding has shown in handling congress. Many will say he hasn't led enough, that he has hesitated and lost ground by so doing. Others will say he has moved too slowly in making decisions. All will agree that in summing the arms conference he achieved something big. As to his cabinet, some members have come up to expectations, some have not. But on the whole, the republicans view it that President Harding has made the best of the situation which confronted him when he came into power and that he has the confidence of the country because he intends to do more.

Democratic View
Take the democratic view. Wherever fair-minded democrats gather, the arms conference is admitted to have been a valuable political asset for Mr. Harding. Though it is too early to say what the final verdict on the four-power pact, or "alliance," as the democrats call it, will be. Curiously enough, those who praise Mr. Harding for calling the conference see in the act a sequel to Woodrow Wilson's efforts at international cooperation. Criticism of the Harding administration on domestic issues is confined to a single subject. The democrats privately think and publicly say the last tax bill was a monstrosity. They point to the deficits in the budget as the answer to republican claims about economy and they fear that the republicans are going to erect a high tariff wall that will cripple foreign trade. The democrats don't believe the economic situation would have been so bad had the government of the United States in cooperation with Europe either through the league of nations or membership on the reparations commission could have been accomplished during the past year. Harding himself recently took occasion to write Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, republican, his regret that congress had tied his hands and prevented American membership on the reparations commission.

Harding Stronger Than Congress
The impression one gets in executive quarters is that President Harding would have liked to cooperate on economic questions with Europe but feared the nationalist group on congress.

One paradox of the situation which most republicans of the country will admit is that President Harding is politically stronger with the country than is the republican congress. It is freely predicted by both sides that the republican majority will be cut down by the elections next autumn. Thus far the democrats as a minority party have not been very active. Senator Underwood's plan of giving the republicans plenty of rein as the elections near.

Vesuvius Pours Forth Lava and Ashes on Land

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Naples—Mount Vesuvius again is in eruption. The phenomenon began with two mild earthquake shocks followed by the collapse of the eruptive cone, 300 feet high, which stood inside the crater.
The fall of the cone was accompanied by explosions and incandescent stones. Liquid lava poured from the crater in streams and in the 24 hours since the disturbance began, has covered an area of 100,000 square feet. The lava has formed an incandescent band more than 200 feet wide around the crater. The temperature of this molten mass is 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

GERMAN ALIEN IS REFUSED PAPERS

Judge Grimm Would Not Accept Applicant Who Refused to Go to War.

Because he did not inform the court that he had claimed exemption during the World war as a German alien, Richard Ernest Grasshoff, was denied citizenship and had his papers cancelled by Judge George Grimm during the naturalization hearing in the Rock county circuit court Saturday afternoon. The government agent showed his draft record and in face of this evidence Grasshoff's application was dismissed.

D. A. H. Sees Court Work
There was a committee from the Janesville D. A. H. society attending during the naturalization hearing. They expressed approval of the methods employed here in granting citizenship.

The cases of William Hooper, Pasquino Stoppelli, Harry Libenson were continued. The case of Libenson was put over to allow this applicant further opportunity of explanation in Russian. The calling his family in Russia. The applicant of a Frederick William Ringhand, Jr., a citizen of Germany was dismissed for want of prosecution or appearance.

New Citizens of U. S. A.
Those granted second papers are as follows: Henry William Dabul, Paul Smith, Charles Nelson, William H. Standish, William Albert Wollin, Italiano Duranti, G. J. Plakas, Louis M. Nelson, Baldassare Barbers, Herald, Nicola Pederson, Oliver Martin, White, Joseph, Solmers, Frank J. Schmidt, Carmelo Buscane, Alfred Karlen, and George Henry Stevens. Nearly all of the applicants passed the tests of the court and naturalized and became well posted.

Course Is to Be Given in Social Service Work

Milwaukee—A four months' course for social workers throughout the state of Wisconsin, will be held in Milwaukee, May 1, according to plans discussed at a meeting of the Central Council of Social Agencies, fostering the course are the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, Juvenile Protective Association, the Wisconsin Council of Social Agencies, the Big Brothers and the Big Sisters.
Those on the publicity committee are: H. H. Jacobs, president of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis Association, Mrs. Ben Kooper, Oshkosh, president of the Wisconsin League of Women Voters; Mrs. James C. Chandler, Racine, president of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs; Dean Louis Reber of the University of Wisconsin extension division, and Edward Lynde, executive secretary of the state conference.

Individual is not confined to one party. He is well-informed, even beloved. Only the extreme partisan will deny that Warren Harding is one of the most popular presidents with official guarantee. Even the democrats who admit the coldness of Woodrow Wilson repeatedly say that if Mr. Wilson had had the personal magnetism of Warren Harding, and if Warren Harding had had the aggressive intellect of Woodrow Wilson, history could regard both as ideal presidents.

Summed up, the democrats will admit that Warren Harding is a better president than they thought he would be. The republicans will agree that congress has done very little to help the prestige of Mr. Harding and has done a great deal to hurt it by putting up issues to him that would be politically distasteful to any president.
On the whole, if the views of most Washington correspondents are a criterion, President Harding has managed a splendidly successful debut to a life of service and honestly for what he believed was right. His relations with the press have been excellent. He has concealed little and talked frankly upon public questions. He has pretended to know it all, to use one of his own expressions of modesty. He has given the impression of a man who knew his own limitations but who tried nevertheless to give the maximum in him to his job.

One year is too short a space to judge any president. The republicans themselves are divided upon many issues, especially the tariff. Mr. Taft's administration was wrecked on the famous schedule K. The drop in wages is not easy for any political party to explain no matter how justified by economic processes. But perspective of the future is a fact. Harding has in the main made good and that he has inspired those about him with confidence that he means to work for the welfare of the country.

SCORES THEATERS FOR SUNDAY SHOWS

Commercialized Interests Ruining Sunday for Working Man, Says Marion.

Disregard of the Lord's day is one of the greatest curses of the time, Rev. Leland L. Marion, pastor of the First Christian church, said at a meeting of the Janesville Ministerial association, speaking on "Sunday Legislation, How Much Is Desirable and How Much Is Possible."

"The only true observance of the Lord's day is the voluntary and from the heart. All the laws in the world cannot compel the ungodly to observe the day. They may lock their automobiles in their garages, stay home from the ball game, abstain from smoking cigarettes, and yet break all 10 commandments. The business world, regardless of religious views of some of its peoples, expects the church to protect its citizens, who will neither sell votes nor steal goods. If boys and girls of today are to be made into such citizens there must be a day in which to do it and it is not in the interest of religion any more than of business and of patriotism that the day should be segregated from the tide of selfishness, people that ignore the demands of God will inevitably suffer."

Will Merit a Curse
"While business is necessary to the life of the community, it must not be carried out at a sacrifice of God's honor. We are just following in the footsteps of some European nations in an almost total disregard for the sanctity of the Lord's day. It does not come to a better realization of God's claims upon our time, and service, we will merit the curse that has come to other lands."
Mr. Marion presented facts to show it pays financially, physically, morally and spiritually to keep the Lord's day sacred.
"A chaplain in England who has attended 35 persons at a service of exorcism, says that nine out of every ten attributed their departure from God to their neglect of the Sabbath," Mr. Marion continued.

"In Wisconsin we have a law which says there shall be no work on the first day of the week, except work of necessity. No stores, shops, places of amusements shall be opened. This law can and has been enforced in many places."

Scores Sunday Shows
"Commercialized amusements making money out of the day of rest, the picture house owners remain open on Sunday for the hard working class, who have no time through the week, and that it counts not as a place of amusement but a place of rest and helplessness," was scored by Mr. Marion, "as a sugar coated pill to fool the public."

"Sunday shows are attended in the most part of people of the higher classes and not the working class, the majority of them being so-called church members who have no respect for the law of God, and therefore none for the laws of the land or city."

"With utter disregard for everything but their own pocketbooks, certain commercial associations in the United States have set out to destroy the American day of rest and worship. They capture and destroy the week for vampire films and prize fights, incidentally seeking to discredit all laws against bootlegging, and jumble and indecent exhibitions," Mr. Marion concluded.

on Sunday, the more people are compelled to work. The first man who loses his Sunday is the working man."
Australia, the land of democracy, ruled for a generation or more by labor governments, has, today, a universal 48-hour week. Saturday closing of business, and on Sunday no theaters or amusements, no street-car service on Sunday forenoon, all of these from labor's demands, he said. "This in a country where organized labor enjoys the highest development and is enthroned in power."
"This is a telling rebuff to the organized interests in our own country that are just now noisily agitating for the destruction of the American Lord's day, under the dishonest slogan of 'Anti-Bible Law' and 'Personal Liberty' movements," concluded Mr. Marion.

EXPECT ACTION ON GAME REFUGE BILL
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington—Action probably will be taken this week by the house agriculture committee on the public shooting ground game refuge bill introduced by Representative Anthony, republican, Kansas, committee members said Monday. The bill would afford added protection to migratory game-bird at the same time increasing the shooting opportunities of sportsmen.

J.M. BOSTWICK & SONS.
The Kingdom of Now!

Yes, there is a golden age of history. It has nothing to do with the vaunted glories of the past. It is not a projection into the dim corridors of the future. There is a promised land, brilliant with opportunity, rich in rewards for those who have the practical vision to behold it. It is the Kingdom of Now—your golden realm and ours—the common empire of all humanity.
The greatest value of the past is in its inspiration to improve the present. The promise of tomorrow is based on the performance of today.
By dedicating its efforts constantly to the glory of the Kingdom of Now, we find certain reward when today becomes tomorrow.

POLICE RAID HOME IN SPRING BROOK

Frank Zbleski Held for Illegal Possession of Big "Moon" Stock.

Police unearthed several bottles of uncolored moonshine and a broken 5-gallon jug, the remnants of which yielded a strong alcoholic odor, in a raid on the home of Frank Zbleski, 1102 McKee boulevard, at 2:30 Saturday afternoon. A similar search at another home an hour before was successful. Zbleski was arraigned in municipal court Monday morning, before Judge H. L. Jaxfield and had his preliminary examination set for next Monday, March 13, with bail fixed at $250.

The Saturday afternoon raiding party was made up of five policemen headed by Chief Charles Newman. Obtaining evidence and a search warrant in advance, the police swooped down on the house taking Zbleski and his wife by surprise. The woman, in the act of putting two bottles in the reservoir of the kitchen stove when the house was entered, police said. Zbleski was in the basement at the time. Investigation there showed the bottles in pieces, a hammer lying nearby and a strong odor of moonshine permeating the atmosphere, police said.

"We had it for our own use," police were told.

"Well you certainly had enough," said the chief. "Put on your hat and coat and come with us." And Zbleski did.

Y. W. C. A. TO FORM CLASS IN ART WORK

In response to an increasing demand for group work in designing and painting, an art class will be organized in the Y. W. C. A. rooms at 7:30 Wednesday night. It will be under the direction of Miss Charlotte Pichler, assisted by Misses Ruth Kunklin, Evelyn Kallvegel and Hilda Woolf. All young women interested in painting, patchwork lamp shades, paper mache, designing, basket weaving, are invited to join. It is immaterial whether they are members of the organization.

Miss Alice Merrick will act as special instructor, designing silk lampshades, pillows and other decorative accessories. Contrary to the usual policy of a first rate for a term of lessons, a small fee of 25 cents per evening will be charged to defray expenses of necessary material.

It is planned to have the class continue through the summer as a sketching or a garden class.

CHANGE OF VENUE IN LIQUOR CASE

A change of venue was taken in the case of Joseph Brown, arrested November 25 in Janesville, on a complaint charging a small fee of 25 cents per evening will be charged to defray expenses of necessary material.

It is planned to have the class continue through the summer as a sketching or a garden class.

30 MARRIAGES IN COUNTY IN 2 MONTHS

Thirty marriages licenses have been issued in Rock county since the first of the year. Applications for licenses were made Saturday afternoon and Monday by A. W. Munger, and Keith Mary Wood, Beloit; Frank Crocker, Brooklyn, and Marion Kossel, Janesville; James Thayer and Hazel B. Van Wormer, Janesville.

YOU TELL 'EM

Reporters ask a daily question of five persons. Here's what they say:

TODAY'S QUESTION:
Kansas City department store girls say they can't do it. Do you think you can do it in Janesville?

Miss Pearl Gaffey, T. P. Burns and Co.
"That's impossible. I should say not. A window cost $20. You might do it if prices were back to what they were 10 or 15 years ago."

Miss Esther L. J. Lewis, Golden Empire.
"It might be possible, but I don't think so. It takes about four pairs of shoes a year and with coats, dresses and other things, it costs at least $200 a year. That doesn't include a fur coat either."

Miss Edith Hecke, J. M. Hestwick & Son.
"I should say not. They might do it in the city, but not in Janesville. I would say it doesn't go far here."

Miss Betty Ryan, J. M. Hestwick & Son.
"No. A spring coat costs $20. With present prices I don't think it possible. Of course, it depends on what one had left over from last year."

LANDIS TELLS WAR VETS HE QUIT TO PAY OFF OLD DEBT

Kongasaw Mountain Landis, supreme commissioner of organized baseball and former federal judge, told the state conference of American Legion commanders and adjutants at Appleton, Wis., Sunday, that he was a debtor of 15 years' standing. He found it advisable to quit the bench for the greater financial return of baseball. John A. Rogers Jr., adjutant of the Richard Ellis Janesville post, who with Ralph J. Kamps, commander, attended the conference, reports Commissioner Landis as declaring that he had reached a point in his life after 17 years on the bench as deciding he must now make calculations to pay off the debt and at the same time, render the public a service by trying to keep baseball clean. He emphasized his admiration for the American Legion and stated he advocates a bonus.

Landis occupied the time of the legion heads. Plans were laid for the organization of a national service bureau to learn the needs of every ex-service man and to render him aid.

A banquet was held Saturday night. More than 500 attended.

HEATING EQUIPMENT READY

Jesse Earle, president of the board of education received information Monday that the American Heating company is ready to start material contracted for to be used in the new high school.

The last 15 years. Josephine Beebe, his wife, survives him. Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 p. m. Wednesday, and burial will be made in the Walworth cemetery.

Blue Basketers Break Jinx by Beating Union High, 28-14

LOCALS SHOW NEW FORM WITH CHANGE IN PLAN OF FIGHT

Janesville high school's basketball team broke its losing streak Saturday night. The Blues showed an entirely new form in smashing through Milton Union, 28 to 14, making the second victory this season for the locals over the Milton quintet.

With Clarke at center and Seeman at stationary guard, Janesville formed a defense that was the best this semester. Added to it, they had a smashing offense that, criss-crossed the ball down the floor and between Clarke and McCluskey dumped it in for 11 field goals. Austin and Dickerson made the other counts for the home team.

Coach Reyner's squad started fast and fought furiously from the first. Despite the fact they were behind 9 to 6 at the end of the first quarter, the Blues let loose an avalanche of action that held Union to one basket in the second quarter while the locals dumped in four.

The second half was a merry battle with Union hold to a couple of field goals while Janesville slammed through six and two free throws. Clarke made a dashing center, playing the position in great fashion. Seeman broke up many a Union pass under the enemy basket while Austin was in every scrap as usual. McCluskey's eye was wonderfully clear while Dickerson led the foot-work.

The Blues still need more practice upon the defensive for Union managed to get 22 shots at the goal in the second half to Janesville's 27. Only the development of the Blues shooting eye gave them the victory. Austin and Chadsey divided honors for Union.

Vic Homming's refereeing was off color.

BY FRANK SINCLAIR Do you remember Omaha (Kid) Schlicker, the lad who administered the sleeping powder to Ray Mayers last year in Janesville and who later was before the Wisconsin Boxing commission and suspended for crooked work in the line here against "Kid" Lewis? In his home town they love him so much they are looking for someone to beat him up.

Tommy Neary, Milwaukee, has made a sporting proposition of 25 per cent of the net or nothing but railway fare and legitimate expenses if he fails to land a KO or a knockdown in 10 rounds. More power to you, Neary! Neary has made the same offer to Mendelsohn.

Three cheers: La Crosse has accepted the Oshkosh proposition of a three game battle for the state normal school title in basketball. It is good when a team realizes that three games are the fairer way to settle such a matter and not box out for one who starts to do.

The see-saw guard attack of Tommy Mills' Beloit college champion five which uses a five man defense and a swinging offense is being copied. Part of Mills' secret is changing the guards so that when the running guard gets tired the hanging guard shifts with him.

Something seems to be wrong in the methods used in conducting the Cent A. A. U. basketball tournament at Chicago. The Chicago has refused an investigation and will give the dope to the fans as soon as it is ready for publication.

Madison got a shock to read in this column that they will not have a team in the Tri-County circuit. Things are sparkling now in the Capital city. They are all right. Drop and Jimmy Dodge on the pitching staff and they want to get in the Tri-county. They will be an addition to the circuit, but it is doubtful whether they will land "Smiling Bill."

Alva C. Elliott, former Snappers tractor player, and captain of the Wisconsin basketball team with a record of 100 wins and 10 losses, will play in the Dodge outfield.

Tommy Milton won the 220 mile national championship automobile race at Los Angeles in 2 hours, 15 minutes, 29 seconds.

Babe Ruth signed a five year contract with the Yankees for $50,000 and a bonus of $500 for each home run he makes.

Eickel, Rudnick, Chicago, 1231; singles, T. Drotshagen, Detroit, 676; all events, P. Young, Akron, 1844.

Chicago defeated Iowa swimmers, 12-25.

Osborne, Illinois, won the Illinois relay carnival with 5,434 points.

Boston refuses to permit Dempsey-Wills fight at Fenway park declaring it is a money making proposition and not a sporting event.

At Training Camp—Aaron Ward is a Yankee holdout. Joe Judge, key-stone sacker, came to terms with the Senators, while Zachary and Pienich are expected to sign Monday. Third baseman, Mulligan and Outfielder Masell have not joined White Sox at Sequin, Tex. Fabor and McWhiney, joined the Chi Sox Sunday. The Chi Cubs played a practice game Sunday with a 5-3 tie and six hits. The Athletics used six pitchers in a 1-0 game before "Procy" Johnson at Eagle Pass, Tex. The Indians beat Dallas, 9-2, with McGuire getting two safeties. The St. Louis Nationals had a holiday at Orange, Tex., but the Browns played at Mobile.
